It included business houses from which a large amount of sewage will be turned into the sewers and which now is emptied into cesspools. Chinese stores and lodging houses will also have the preference in making connections. The sewer system for the downtown district is ready for use. Sewage can be run fnto the mains and will be received in the large subterranean vault constructed on the beach at Kaknako. From this the pumping engine will force the sewage through the outlet which has been built downward into the ocean, far beneath the surface.

The expense for emptying cesspools pending the completion of the downtown section of the sewer system has fallen heavily on many business men, and the opportunity to connect with the mains will be welcomed as a great relief. A Chinese business man has paid out about $80 a month for the paid out about $80 a month for the pozed, and told him to bring me all emptying of a cesspool from his place the tobacco he could find.
